How to Prepare for WorkX Dallas 2024

Proper preparation is essential to maximize your conference experience. Here are some key items to bring and tips to ensure you're ready for WorkX Dallas 2024.

Packing Essentials for Productivity

To make the most of the WorkX conference, consider packing the following items to stay engaged and comfortable throughout the event:

- The Basics: business cards, pens, notepads, etc.
- Chargers for Electronics: Ensure your laptop, phone, and chargers are packed. Keeping your devices powered is crucial for staying connected and productive.
- Comfortable Shoes: With plenty of walking and standing, comfort is key.
- Light Jacket or Sweater: Yes, even in Texas, make sure you pack a few layers. It may be hot outside this time of year, but that means the air conditioning will be working overtime whenever you're inside.

Forgotten Something? No Worries!

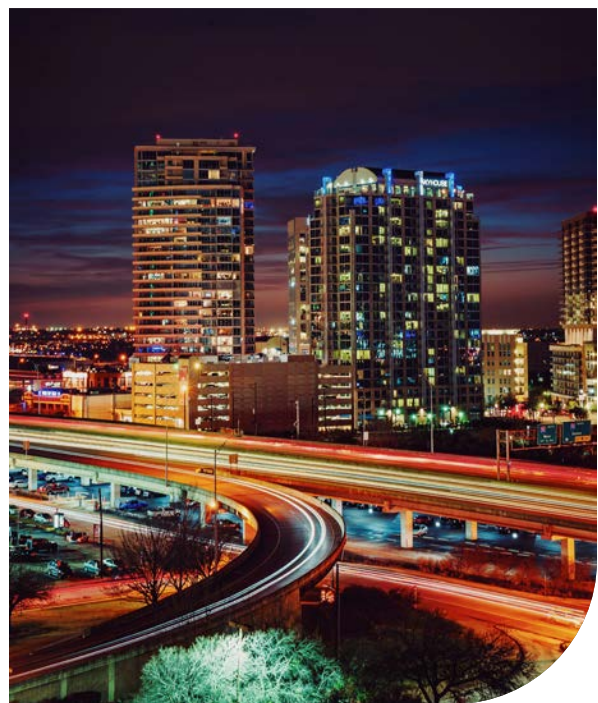

Even with careful planning, you might forget something. Luckily, several convenience stores and pharmacies near the Renaissance Dallas Hotel can help you with any last-minute needs.

The 8 Best BBQ Restaurants in Dallas

Dallas is known for its outstanding barbecue, and whether you're a local or visiting for WorkX Dallas 2024, these top BBQ spots are not to be missed. Here's a guide to the best places to satisfy your BBQ cravings:

1. Terry Black's BBQ

Located in Deep Ellum, Terry Black's BBQ is famous for its mouth-watering barbecue and vibrant atmosphere. The menu features pork and beef ribs, brisket, creamed corn, and tangy coleslaw. Enjoy your meal on the top-deck patio with sunny views of Deep Ellum, or watch the pros in action in the open pit area. Don't forget to try their delicious margaritas!

2. Sweet Georgia Brown

In South Dallas, Sweet Georgia Brown offers a delightful mix of BBQ and soul food, served cafeteria-style. Their smoked ribs and sausage are complemented by fried chicken, collard greens, and candied yams. The generous portions ensure you'll have plenty to take home for later.

3. OAK'D

Situated in Dallas' Old Town Shopping Center, OAK'D serves up handcrafted Texas BBQ with a unique flair. Their brisket, infused with Texas Post Oak smoke, is a standout, but don't miss their gourmet sides and sweet treats from the OAK'D bakery, including homemade ice cream and biscuits. Everything is locally and regionally sourced, ensuring fresh and flavorful meals.

4. Pecan Lodge

A staple in Deep Ellum, Pecan Lodge is renowned for its slow-cooked meats and made-from-scratch sides. Although there's usually a line out the door, the wait is well worth it. Indulge in their savory BBQ and finish off with one of their delectable homemade desserts.

5. Lockhart Smokehouse

Located in the Bishop Arts District, Lockhart Smokehouse offers a true Texas BBQ experience. This counter-service spot serves smoked meats on butcher paper, accompanied by a full bar featuring local craft beers and cocktails. It's the perfect place to enjoy hearty BBQ in a relaxed setting.

6. Off The Bone Barbeque

Head to the Cedars/Southside neighborhood for traditional Texas-style BBQ at Off The Bone. The southern pecan baby back ribs are a highlight, and their deep-fried corn on the cob is a must-try. Be sure to save room for their lemon pound cake and southern peach cobbler.

7. The Slow Bone

In the Design District, The Slow Bone offers a low-key dining experience with daily specials like BBQ sandwiches, meat plates, and Texas favorites such as Frito Pie and brisket chili. Open until 3 p.m. daily, it's the perfect spot for a satisfying lunch.

8. Smokey John's Bar-B-Que & Home Cooking

For over 40 years, Smokey John's has been serving hearty, Texas-style BBQ with hickory-smoked goodness. From pork ribs and hot links to fried catfish and brisket, Smokey John's provides a wide variety of Southern BBQ favorites, giving you a true taste of local flavors.

Honorable Mentions

Smokey Joe's BBQ

A South Dallas favorite, Smokey Joe's has been delighting customers with family recipes for over 30 years. People line up for their sausage links, brisket sandwiches, and sloppy fries.

Cattleack Barbecue

Open only two days a week in North Dallas, Cattleack Barbecue is a must-visit for BBQ enthusiasts. Recognized as one of the top BBQ spots in Texas by Texas Monthly, Cattleack serves outstanding pulled pork, fatty brisket, and beef ribs, along with seasonal specials.

These BBQ restaurants showcase the best of Dallas's BBQ scene, offering a variety of flavors and dining experiences that are sure to satisfy any BBQ lover. Enjoy exploring these top spots and savoring the delicious BBQ that Dallas has to offer.

Eating Like a Local

For those looking to explore local cuisine, here are our top restaurant recommendations within a short distance from the venue:

El Fenix Mexican Restaurant

A Dallas institution since 1918, El Fenix serves delicious Tex-Mex dishes.

Meso Maya

Known for its authentic Mexican cuisine, Meso Maya offers a rich dining experience with flavorful dishes.

Savor Gastropub

Located in Klyde Warren Park Savor offers a modern American menu with great views of the park.

Trinity Groves

Trinity Groves is a unique dining destination with a variety of restaurants, each offering different cuisines from around the world.
